SO THEY SAY

Margaret Cleland, heroic London policewoman, explaining why she plans to leave England:

"Life has been too dull lately, so I'm going to America in search of adventure."

Paul Getty, oil millionaire, expressing pleasure at receiving a pencil sharpener, an eraser and a clothes brush for his 72d birthday:

"I like childish, simple things."

Sen. Young (R-N.D.), praising the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency after a world tour of CIA posts:

"Their results are better than those of the Russian KGB, the Soviet counterpart, even though the Russians have more than twice as many personnel."

James Bishop, 82, predicting he would be recalled to work in England as a steamroller driver after retiring for the 17th time:

"It takes years to learn roller driving, and youngsters of 50 or so just don't know how to use them."
